In recent years, China has seen rapid growth of its optical telecommunication industry. Now China is the world’s biggest optical telecommunication market, boasting a comprehensive industry chain. Thanks to demands for data centers and 5G technology, optical components and modules are embracing business opportunities.

CIOE 2019 is a professional event that covers the whole opto-electronics industry, among which the optical communications expo includes optical telecommunications system equipment, optical fibers and cables, optical telecommunications components and data centers. It offers a one-stop service platform for system integrators, operators, and internet service providers to seek products, innovative technologies, and turnkey solutions.
